

Cupid's arrow heads to the summit at the Victoria-Jungfrau Grand Hotel & Spa

This year, let cupid send his romantic arrow deep into the heart of Switzerland. For the perfect romantic break on St. Valentine's Day, Saturday 14th February 2009, why not head for Victoria-Jungfrau Grand Hotel & Spa and live the high life.

If skiing is your partner's other passion, then the hotel's own shuttle goes directly to the ski station in Grindelwald (1034m/3393ft), about 20 km away. For those more adventurous and who want to savour the 007 element, there is heli-skiing, just 12 minutes from the hotel at Gsteigwiler. Take off to ski on crisp snow in the shadow of the three mighty peaks of the Eiger, Mönch and the Jungfrau and, for those that just want to be a part of James Bond, without the adrenalin rush, a leisurely champagne breakfast awaits on Mt. Schilthorn, where the exciting snow chase was filmed in Her Majesty's Secret Service and, the funicular waits to take you back to the hotel.

Upon your return to the Victoria-Jungfrau Grand Hotel, there can be nothing more enjoyable than some time in the spa soothing away aching muscles with an ESPA massage prior to dinner in one of the hotel's three restaurants.

Prices start from CHF690/*£387 for a superior double room, based on two people sharing and inclusive of service charge and VAT. All guests have complimentary access to the spa with its spectacular 21-metre swimming pool with a Jacuzzi, outdoor hot tub and Turkish baths.
